A program, as defined by the Ohio Chapter, American Academy of Pediatrics, is any effort with a measurable impact on health outcomes/behavior change or a direct impact on the health, safety or well-being of children. In addition to these components, programs are also characterized by both budgetary implications and the allocation of Chapter staff and/or resources.

The definition of program does not cover individual educational offerings by the Chapter, such as Roundtable Meetings, Annual Meetings, or other similar activities. The Planning, Implementation and Performance (PIP) Committee, under the direction of the Ohio Chapter, American Academy of Pediatrics and its Board of Directors, reserves the right to modify this definition at any point to better serve the goals and mission of the Chapter.

Examples of Ohio Chapter, American Academy of Pediatrics' programming include: Building Mental Wellness Learning Collaborative, Bike Helmet Safety Awareness Week, Maximizing Office Based Immunization (MOBI) Program, etc.
